

Steam Therapy

How to use humidity to soothe an irritated airway.

How to Do It

1. Take your dog into the bathroom and close the door.
2. Turn the shower on hot and let the room fill with steam (your dog does NOT go in the water).
3. Sit calmly with your dog in the steamy room for 10 to 15 minutes.
4. Keep them relaxed, a chew or gentle petting helps them settle.

How Often

Situation	How Often
Active mild cough	2 to 3 times a day
Maintenance / dry air	Once a day or as needed
Overnight dryness	Run a cool-mist humidifier in their room

Make It Work Even Better

- A cool-mist humidifier in the room they sleep in keeps the airway calm overnight
- Keep the home free of smoke, dust, and strong sprays or scents
- Pair with the honey syrup for mild throat irritation (see that guide)
- Always use a harness, not a collar, so nothing presses the throat

STEAM IS SUPPORTIVE CARE, NOT A CURE. If the cough is severe, lasts more than a few days, happens at night, or comes with weakness, fast breathing, or pale gums, skip the home care and see your vet right away.
